

Independent strategic advice to the dams and water industry

Australian Dams & Water Consultants Pty Ltd

---

Introducing ADWC

Australian Dams & Water Consultants Pty Ltd (ADWC) is an independent engineering consultancy founded in early 2011 by David Stewart.

David is highly respected and well known throughout the dams and water industry across Australia and internationally, with a track record of more than 30 years of achievement and delivery of a range of major dams and water infrastructure projects.

At ADWC we share our experience and expertise with you to develop simple and appropriate risk management programs to give you confidence in your key strategic decisions for your dams and water business.

Our practical experience in working at a high level within both the private and public sector means that we can provide guidance and advice in all aspects of dams engineering and risk management programs to help with your business decision making.

David Stewart
Managing Director

Why choose us?

Working as a truly independent partner to your dams or water business, we bring a unique perspective to your critical business decisions because we've been there before. We have relevant and up to date first-hand experience and a proven track record of delivery and achievement in the private and public sectors.

With independently recognised technical and professional skills and industry leadership we can help you to achieve outstanding outcomes for your business through your dam safety, risk management and strategic asset programs.

And finally, because we're a small and focused business we pride ourselves on our responsive and personal service and you also benefit because our low overheads means great value for money.

How can we help you?

By working closely with government and private sector clients we are able to help with the development of appropriate investment decision making and project delivery strategies, including infrastructure risk management programs. We specialise in providing high level technical guidance for owners and operators of major dams and other infrastructure.

Let us talk with you about how our skills and experience can help your business with its:

- Dam safety and risk management programs
- Emergency planning, documentation and training
- Dams and major infrastructure engineering
- Strategic asset management
- Risk based and corporate business decision making
- Major project planning, delivery and governance
- Water policy, trading and markets
- Irrigation modernisation programs
- Asset investment program review
- Water supply system review
- Staff and operator training
- Major project planning, delivery and governance
- Strategic planning
- Asset investment planning
- Corporate management and strategic change programs
- Strategic partnerships and government relationships
- Workshop Facilitation

Australian Dams & Water Consultants Pty Ltd
PO Box 432
San Remo
Victoria 3925
AUSTRALIA

Phone +61 439 335 642
Email enquiries@adwc.com.au
www.adwc.com.au